Foreword

THE war has modified all plans at the University often requiring serious consequences. In the case of publications, however, it has been a genuine pleasure to adjust the plans to the new situation. The Makio, proud of the war record of the Ohio State boys, dedicates this issue to them and devotes its space to the military features of the war. The usual program has been modified in order to make this possible. It is confidently believed that this change will meet the cordial approval of all the interests and organizations that annually contribute to the success of the Makio. The war is over and the record is rapidly approaching completion. So far as possible, this edition will tell the story of the war as seen on the campus, with such flashlights as have been thrown on the canvas from reporters and other sources of information. We believe that Makio in khaki uniform with the martial spirit will be both welcome and attractive.

Dedication

So nigh is grandeur to our dust,
So near is God to man,
When Duty whispers low, Thou must,
The youth replies, I can.

It is with the most sacred emotions of gratitude and pride that the MAKIO inscribes this volume to the sons of the University who have dedicated their gifts, their trained skill, their very lives to the service of the nation and to the cause of human freedom. No mere words can honor them; no memorial, however sublime, can add to the imperishable grace of their sacrifice. Yet the quiet high-hearted chivalry with which they, whom the University had cherished, laid aside selfish aims and went forth to battle against a foe that knew neither knightliness nor mercy, compels a tribute of remembrance and makes praise an honor not so much to them as to him who renders it. And so the MAKIO ventures to hope that a book which to all of them, perhaps, has brought back memories of the laughter and the gay friendliness of happier days may now without presumption, offer them the homage of its love, its reverence, and its profound devotion.

Men of Gold

Among the hundreds of blue stars on the great service flag of the University gleams a galaxy of golden stars, the deathless emblems of those fearless youths who, when Justice was assailed, closed the book, shut tight the study door, and hurried where the rallying bugles sounded. To die as these die for whom the stars gleam gold,—that wrong might be forever beaten down and right restored—this is to consecrate one's life to a cause the holiest among men; and in the years to come no son or daughter of the University will look upon the stars of gold without the thought that the names of those they commemorate are hallowed. With deepest reverence the University dedicates these pages of her year book to her sons who gave to a high and holy cause "the last full measure of devotion."

Taps

Fades the night
And afar
Goeth the day
Cometh the night
And a star
Leadeth all
Speedeth all
To their rest.

Love, goodnight,
Must thou go
When the day
And the night
Leave me so?
Fare thee well;
Day is done,
Night is on.

When your last
Day is past
From afar
Some bright star
O'er your grave
Watch will keep
While you sleep
With the brave.

PRESIDENT WILLIAM OXLEY THOMPSON

WITHIN three days after the entrance of the United States into the World War, President Thompson sent a telegram to President Wilson offering him in behalf of the trustees and faculty of the University, all the resources of men and laboratories of the University, and since that time Dr. Thompson has not only faithfully and capably led the war activities of the institution, but has been in word and work an efficient supporter of the war in every way.

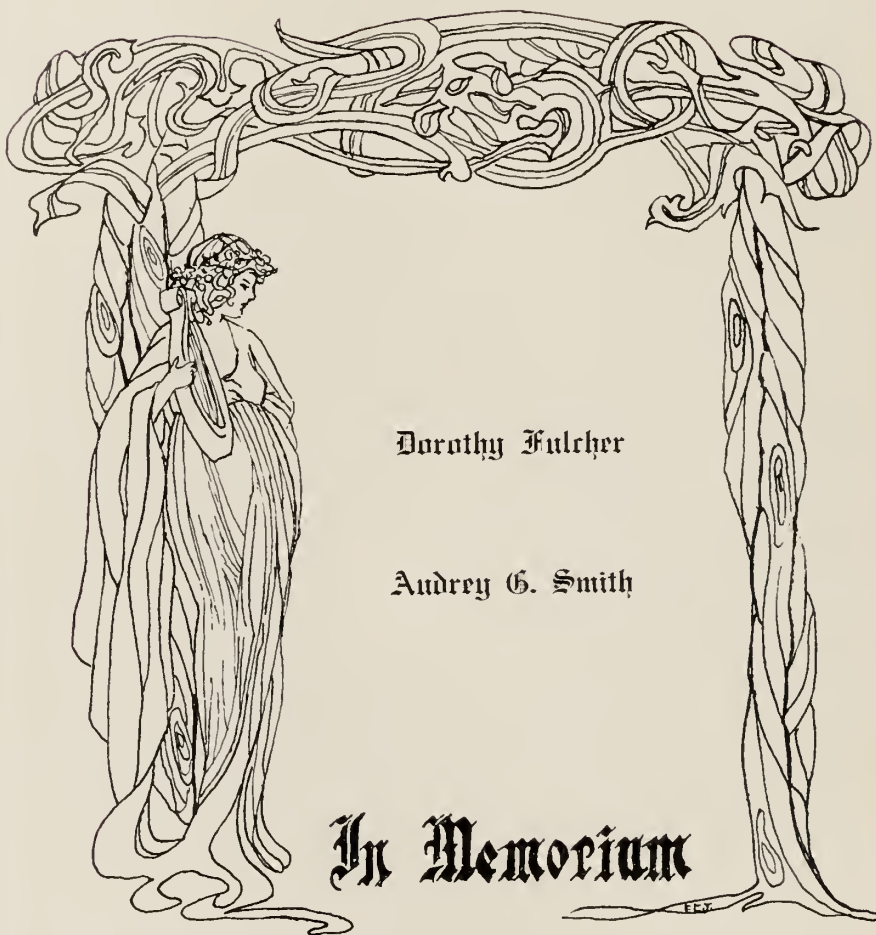

The story of his participation in and his contribution to the winning of the mighty struggle is told, in part at least, by mention in the official positions he holds. He is chairman of the Committee on Education of the Ohio Branch of the Council of National Defense, and chairman of the Ohio Food Administration.

Dr. Thompson's most conspicuous effort has been in connection with the problems of food production. Last March he received a request from Secretary Houston, of the United States Department of Agriculture, that he make a tour of speaking and investigation in seven states of the Northwest. This trip which occupied about five weeks did much to clear up the misunderstanding that existed between the grain producers of the Northwest and the administration at Washington, particularly as to a better distribution of transportation facilities. No happier selection for this task could have been made.

For more than ten years, Dr. Thompson has been chairman of the Executive Committee of the Association of Agricultural Colleges of the United States, and no man is more familiar with agricultural conditions in all portions of the country than he is.

Last August, Dr. Thompson received appointment by Secretary Houston, as chairman of a Federal Commission, to visit France and England to investigate agriculture. That our president should have been chosen to head this commission of distinguished educators and scientists was a marked honor to him and the University, and the comprehensive report made to the Secretary of Agriculture was proof of his ability and industry of the commission. Since his return in November, Dr. Thompson has told in many public addresses what he saw and heard abroad,

But it is of the efforts put forth by the University as an Institution, its teachers and students, that President Thompson is most proud. The fulfillment of that pledge made in April, 1917, in which he will only admit a modest part, is after all the crowning glory.

College of Agriculture

The entire faculty of the College of Agriculture has been mobilized for war service. There never before was a war in which food played so important a part as this one. But for America's food supply, our allies would have been compelled to stop fighting before the war was won. The obvious duty of the College of Agriculture, therefore, was to speed up crop production, and to urge the conservation of food. The College has co-operated with the United States Department of Agriculture, the Food Administration, The Experiment Station, the State Board of Agriculture, and the state wide campaign for food production and conservation in which every member of the faculty has had a part. One of the concrete results of this campaign is seen in the fact that Ohio increased her plantings of wheat by two hundred thousand acres.

Alfred Vinau

College of Arts, Philosophy and Science

It would be impossible to make a complete enumeration of the various forms of service in which the instructors and students of the College of Arts, Philosophy and Science have been engaged during the war; and it would be ungracious when each has done his duty with loyalty and eagerness, to endeavor to apportion praise. All may have the high sense of duty well done. Nothing can add to the glory of those who have offered their lives for the great cause now won. Those who have made the supreme sacrifice will always have our reverence. Their names will be an inspiration forever.

The duty of the hour is the work of restoration, including the restoration of education and its re-adjustment to the needs of the new world created by the war. To this work we must address ourselves at once in the same high spirit which has prevailed in all of our American life since this war for humanity was undertaken.

J. W. Denney

College of Commerce and Journalism

Soon after the United States became involved in war members of the staff of the College of Commerce and Journalism were called on to render war service and they responded to every call which did not interfere too seriously with the work of the University. Over one-half the members of the staff of this college gave full time service in war work for a portion of the time our country has been at war and some of them have given continuous service almost from the beginning of the war.

Of these, two resigned to enter the army, one gave a year's service in the office of the State Draft Headquarters and another gave several months of service in this office. One is a member of Mr. Hoover's staff in Washington in charge of labor problems of the Federal Food Administration. Two are with the United States Shipping Board. One organized and was in charge of the War Camp Community Service work of Louisville, Kentucky, for eight months, and had charge of similar work two months in El Paso, Texas, and three months in Detroit. Another had charge of the civilian relief work at Camp Sherman six months. Two were special investigators of the office of the Federal Food Administrator of Ohio for three months. One has been executive secretary of the committee on patriotic education of the state branch of the Council of National Defense. Another has been Deputy Food Administrator of Ohio and in charge of the Division of Marketing and Head of the Civilian Relief Department of the Columbus Red Cross Society. The latter also conducted three Home Service Institutes for the training of civilian relief workers which were held under the joint auspices of the National Red Cross, the Local Red Cross and the Ohio State University. Another, while carrying a full time schedule in the University, gave much time to the war chest drive, two liberty loan drives, a red cross drive for nurses in Franklin County, and other activities. Another member also gave a great deal of time to Red Cross work while doing his full quota of University work.

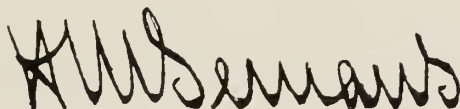

College of Dentistry

There are three members of the faculty of the college of Dentistry, having the dental degree, who are actively engaged in war service work as officers: Dr. John W. Means, Instructor in Oral Surgery, as a Major with the Medical Corps service, with base Hospital No. 22, now in France, is giving valuable service in plastic Surgery, especially in Restorations in the oral phase of Plastic Surgery. First Lieut. Lewis E. Reif, Instructor in Operative Dentistry, after spending a year as an operating dental officer at Camp Custer, is now with the 85th Division in France. First Lieut. Frank C. Starr, Instructor in Crown and Bridge, and Metallurgy, has been in France since August, 1917, as an Oral and Dental Surgeon with the Red Cross Hospital No. 2 in Paris.

The fourteen remaining members of the Dental Faculty, who carry the degree of Doctor of Dental Surgery, have been actively engaged in the City of Columbus in work under the direction of the Preparedness League of American Dentists. The work has been carried on under the supervision of the Dental Committee in connection with the Draft Board at Memorial Hall.

The College of Dentistry has also averaged the same amount of time, not only to draftees, but also to enlisted men, during the past two years.

Dean Seamans is a member of the Committee on Mobilization of Dental Education activities. He also has served since the spring of 1917 as Preliminary Dental Examiner for the Officer's Dental Reserve Corps.

The College of Education and the War

In the part which the University has been able to take in the war, thru its contributions of men, money, time, energy, and facilities, it is not easy to separate the services of the individual colleges. Whatever the institution was able to do was done by the University as a unit, or by its faculty, alumni and students as individuals.

I have been asked, however, to indicate so far as possible what the share of the College of Education has been.

First, eight of the instructional force of the college have for the past year been in the government service for the whole or major part of their time. Second, its department of psychology has lent its facilities to the division established by the War Department for mental testing of officers and men in the camps and cantonments, a branch of the service which has achieved many good and important results. Two of the faculty of that department have been in the government service in that field since the early days of our share in the war. A third member has given a large portion of his time to the same field, while two of the recent assistants have joined in the work. Third, a special and appropriate contribution of this College has been in response to the appeal of President Wilson for the efficient continuance and maintenance of public educational facilities during the war period. To that end the College has co-operated with its students in helping to overcome the shortage in the number of teachers. A larger proportion than ever before of its graduating class went directly into the teaching service. Fewer than usual of the graduating class have drifted into mere financially profitable work, but on the contrary have seen that their service to the country could most fittingly be rendered in the field for which they were trained. The College is especially proud of its record in this respect.

Fourth, at the present time the College is arranging to co-operate in the training of teachers and instructors for the great work of Americanization which is organizing for the education of the adult foreigners in the country—a service which is eminently a public service growing out of the war conditions and experiences.

The College of Engineering

This college has been quite popular with students who entered at the beginning of the year with the expectation of entering the Student Army Training Corps. About 1236 students entered in September, which is an increase of three hundred over the maximum of any year in the history of the college. Eight hundred and thirty-four of these students have been inducted into the S.A.T.C. The majority of them are first year men most of whom were attracted to the University by the unusual offer of being paid by the government to obtain some University training. Many of them expected to be sent to the Officer's Training Camp where they had hopes of winning a commission. Seven hundred and seventy-four new students entered the college at the beginning of the year, whereas, the largest number of first year students for any previous year was 350. Some of these boys failed to qualify for induction into the S.A.T.C. and quite a number have withdrawn from the University.

But the war is over and the need of the S.A.T.C. is gone. The general impression among both students and faculty is that the experiment has not been a success. Most of us will be relieved when government disbands our S.A.T.C.

E. F. Goddington

The Graduate School

Like all other colleges of the University, the Graduate School has served and suffered during this comparatively short war. Its Dean is a Lieutenant-Colonel and a former Acting Dean is serving as regional director of the Y.M.C.A. in the Piave district in Italy. All the members of the council have participated in the several Liberty Loans, Y.M.C.A., and other drives; two members are in government service as captains; several have contributed articles relating to the conflict to different publications; and one member of the Council was appointed by Governor Cox on the Ohio Historical Commission, the primary purpose of which is to collect and preserve the war records of the state.

The enrollment in the Graduate School has been considerably decreased by the war. There were 191 graduate students on November 8, 1917. By the end of the first semester, however, this number had fallen to 136, and a few withdrawals followed during the second semester reducing the enrollment to 123. Of ten fellows six resigned during the academic year 1917-18, and of twenty scholars, only eleven retained their appointments throughout the same period.

Despite these necessary losses and distractions the Graduate Council has made a good beginning in the publication of contributions to the various branches of learning by issuing two numbers of the new "Ohio State University Studies," besides bringing out a new number of the "Publications of the Teaching Staff" covering the past five years.

The College of Homoeopathic Medicine

The College of Homœopathic Medicine and the University Hospital have contributed their bit to the great war in several directions. The clinical teaching staff of the college consists of ten members, four of whom are medical officers in the service. Professor Fred Brown Grosvenor of the Department of Physical Diagnosis, is in charge of the medical department of Base Hospital No. 48, in France. Dr. H. M. Sage, Assistant in eye, ear, nose, and throat, is stationed with the Base Hospital at Camp Jackson. Dr. J. C. Keiser, Assistant in Surgery, is in the Sanitary Detachment of the 321st Infantry in France. Dr. George B. Faulder, Assistant in Gynecology and Obstetrics is with Evacuation Hospital No. 6 in France. Of the graduates since the opening of the college, two-thirds are in the service.

There are but two of the original staff of graduate nurses remaining in the hospital; all of the others, with the exception of one, are in military Red Cross service. A Red Cross unit for the preparation of surgical dressings was maintained in the hospital for more than a year. A second Red Cross unit was maintained in the Nurses' Home.

During the period in which the Aviation School was located at the University, the University Hospital was of service to hundreds of aviators. In connection with the researches conducted by the Department of Chemistry of the University the Hospital was of service to a number of gas burn cases contracted by men during their research work.

Members of the faculty have served on the State Committee of the Medical Section of the Council of National Defense and also on the Medical Board of the S.A.T.C. during the epidemic of Influenza. The Hospital has been of continuous service for military cases during the period of the war.

The College of Law

The registration in the College of Law was lowered by the rules requiring one year of college work for admission for candidates for certificates in law, effective September 1915. It was again lowered for the year 1917-18 by the rule requiring two years of college work for admission and the abolishment of certificates in law. The "man power bill" of August 1918 fixing the minimum draft age at eighteen years left no available students for the College of Law except those entitled to deferred classification. As a result the College was not opened as there were not enough students to justify it.

The College of Medicine

The effect of the war on medical colleges and medical education has been as pronounced, probably, the same as in any educational line. The depletion of medical staffs throughout the country reached such a stage that on July 18, 1918, the Government asked for lists of essential teachers, and from that time on, men who were so listed were not permitted to enlist in the medical service of the army. Up to that time, of a total teaching corps of 91, 26 men were commissioned in the army. At a conservative estimate, thirty-three per cent of the active teaching force was withdrawn from the Medical faculty. This necessitated a radical rearrangement in the teaching staff and imposed heavy duties on medical teachers who were already overburdened, by the withdrawal of men from the profession for Government service.

The men remaining have risen to the occasion in the best possible spirit, and I do not feel that medical teaching was crippled as much as might have been expected.

The most serious difficulty caused by the war was the cessation of all scientific research. It is hard to estimate the extent of this damage. The disadvantage will be offset, to some extent, by the experience secured by men who have gone into Government service.

The attitude of students in the Medical College has been very fine. It has been very difficult to keep them at their medical studies since they chafed a good deal under the prospect of being inducted into active service before the war might end.

The College of Pharmacy

In attempting to give some idea of what the College of Pharmacy has done in war service, various phases of work suggest themselves. These may be stated as specific achievements or by the generalization that we have been training men for service. As soon as war was declared the College, in common with many others, placed its men and facilities at the service of the Government. These were utilized to a certain extent in working out various problems in the manufacture of medical compounds. However the most gratifying achievement, and one to which we may point with just pride, was the prompt and enthusiastic response of the students, ex-students and alumni to the call to service. At the time the war closed we had a record of about 175 men who were actively engaged in some branch of military duty or training, while these men were to be found in practically every branch of service, the greatest number were in the Medical, Sanitary and Hospital service where their technical training was most needed. A number were also enlisted in various branches of the navy. If ability and efficiency are evidenced by rank and promotion then we have further reason for pride in their record and achievements. All have done their duty with cheerfulness, fidelity and courage and a number have made the supreme sacrifice.

The College of Veterinary Medicine

Though there has been a general impression that the motor truck and automobile have superseded the horse in the army, this is not at all the case. Man's most useful beast of burden has an important place in the armies abroad and thousands of horses from various parts of the United States have been sent to France. The health of these animals must be looked after as carefully as the men in the ranks, as their supplies, food and equipment depend upon the horse to bring them to the front lines when it is impossible for other means of transportation to reach them. The cavalry has also been an important branch of the service of the present war. The alumni of the College have taken an active part in looking after the health and condition of these animals.

Another very important service rendered by the veterinarian in the present world war is the inspection of meat, milk, and other food products which have been such a vital factor in keeping the soldiers in good physical condition.

The efficient Veterinary Corps of the American Expeditionary Forces in France, at whose head is our own Dean, Colonel David S. White, has been active in these different lines of service. A large percentage of the Alumni of the College have received commissions and are serving their Country in this crisis.

The college, as it has been considered essential by the War Department and its students enlisted in the M.E.R.C. and the S.A.T.C., has endeavored to keep up its standards during this history-making period, and the students instructed so that they will be capable of rendering service wherever necessary.

The Library

The American Library Association was one of the seven organizations which co-operated in the wonderful United War Work Drive of November 11-18, 1918. It is a national organization, which for over forty years has worked for the development of libraries in America and has placed the American library system ahead of all library systems of the world. With the entering of this country into the war, the Association felt that its great work was to carry its library service into the camps and training stations of the country. The War Service Committee was immediately appointed and even before the camps were ready, books were on the field and library buildings were in process of construction. Books were also sent to our boys over seas and special arrangements were made whereby the boys on the transports could have access to reading matter.

In this work, the Library of the Ohio State University has had a part. From its very beginning it has assisted in the collecting of books and magazines and in the general work of making them available. Scrap books were made for use in the hospitals, and books were freely lent from the library shelves for the use of officers and men. Last year three members of the Library staff spent considerable time in the Library at Camp Sherman. Mr. C. W. Reeder was Camp Librarian during the month of January, Miss Chapin assisted in preparing books, working in the Chillicothe Public Library on the books which were to be sent to the Camp, and for two months Mr. Donald Leidigh was an assistant in the Camp Library. This fall the Library gave the services of Mr. C. W. Reeder for half time to the Ohio Food Administration and Mr. Reeder has been the Library Publicity Director for Ohio. The extra work, which naturally fell upon those members of the staff who stayed at home, was cheerfully carried, each one feeling that in that way she was able to do her bit for the war.

To The Seniors

None of the war classes have lived through as many changes as the Class of Nineteen. Fancy, in our freshman year we were more interested in the new dances than in Villa's raid. And now the great carnival of peace, no farther off than yesterday, seems very far away. Remember how we yelled the old yell over the second football championship, and how quickly we forgot it? Remember the candles and the red crosses in the windows, that wet Christmas eve of Seventeen? Remember that black Friday night when Paris was bombarded, how bold and sweet came the bugle's blowing taps from the aviator's camp on the campus? Remember that gorgeous day in May when the first Varsity service flag was unfurled, that great shimmer of the thousands of blue stars within the red border, with here and there the subtle twinkle of the gold? Remember how the airplanes circled in battle formation over our towers, that August day when our finest was shot down in his plane over the lines in France? Strange were the days, our Alma Mater: when you were dark for the coal sent to the ships, or for the epidemic of the flu, when day by day the fellows we knew were saying gay goodbyes, when our girls were marrying from the very classroom, or returning changed and mute, what time another blue star changed to gold: strange days and great, Alma Mater, our Mother of Honor! Now stand up everybody, for the greater days of peace and the more beautiful Ohio that shall be: all together once more, the yell Ohio!

Campus Events

Foreword

Just as the war laid its compelling hand upon many social, political and business activities out in the world, and said, "For the time these must stop, for there are more important issues demanding your attention," so, in the miniature world of the campus, too, it spoke its words of restraint, and straightway a hundred projects ceased, a hundred avenues of energy closed until a happier time should come. In nothing more than in the way the students met this strange situation was there shown the fine spirit with which young Americans faced every new obligation and every new necessity. We are used to thinking that without what we call "campus activities," college life can scarcely proceed at ail, for into these we put so much of our strength, so much of our enthusiasm and spirit. But when the greater demand came, we put them aside and turned ourselves to what seemed much larger and more vital interests. Even under discouraging conditions, however, a few of the ordinary activities proceeded, in an extraordinary way, to be sure; and great credit is due those students who were able to keep certain valuable college projects alive, were able to attend to both the higher call of country and the every day work incidental to the lesser but still important activities. With all the tremendous amount of war work which Ohio State did her young members found a place for the maintaining of at least a few of the most prominent student undertakings, a record of which will be found in the following section of the MAKIO.

Women and the War

Just a word in regard to the work of the girls in the University during this year of unsettled conditions. They were anxious to do some war work that really counted and it seemed very fitting that this service should benefit our own University students. After some discussion the problem was happily solved by arranging to mend the clothing of the Student Army Training Corps and thus add to their personal comfort.

The social side was not forgotten and in order to take care of that question a series of open meetings to be held at the Ohio Union had been arranged. A room in the Union was set aside for use as a Hostess House where S.A.T.C. men might meet members of their families and visit with them.

In order to furnish a variety of work and to keep everybody busy some reclamation work for Camp Sherman was sent to us from the Red Cross.

Each of the four classes has a chairman, with a sub-chairman who see the girls in the class and arrange for work at certain of their open hours in the afternoon. This arrangement will undoubtedly foster class spirit, make the girls better known to each other, and give them a mutual interest. The girls have always stood ready to serve in any emergency, and more than once have responded in a way that was a credit to the women of the University.

REPRESENTATIVE WOMEN

Foreword

BECAUSE of the war and existing conditions of the past year, the Rosebud has become Passe, and the Representative Woman has risen to take her place.

The eighteen women chosen by a committee of students and approved by members of the faculty, are those of the Junior and Senior classes who are worthy of being called "Representative Women."

They were chosen for their ability, for leadership, for personality and for the interest shown in the activities of the school.

War Time Athletics

The position taken by the Department of Physical Education and the Athletic Board since the United States entered the world war, has been that all forms of physical activity should be carried on and encouraged. The theory is that if college athletics are ever justifiable and necessary they are especially so in war times. If physical training, and especially athletic competitions, are beneficial in the training of fighting men, they should be continued. This stand was taken by the Ohio State University authorities even before President Wilson and the Army and Navy men had declared themselves as strongly favoring the carrying on of intercollegiate sports. The authorities generally have decided that not only is the physical training gained from athletics good for the soldier but that the spirit developed by participation in intercollegiate contests is highly important for the making of good soldiers.

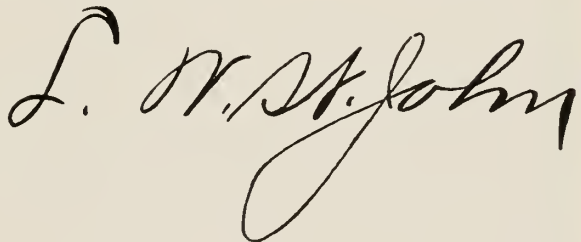

Naturally the drains have been heavy among the athletic ranks. Large numbers of the best and most experienced men have been in the service, thus lowering the grade of University and College teams. However the training of men and not the winning of games has been the end desired. The number of Ohio State athletes who entered the service and the number of officers who were formerly on University teams amply justify these beliefs. A number have given their lives for the cause for which they fought.

When Student Army Training Corps were established in the educational institutions as a means of preparing men, by special training, for officers' training schools, faculty bodies gave up the eligibility control. Matter of eligibility and practice sessions were therefore regulated by the military authorities. Ohio State's football squad was able to secure approximately an hour's practice daily and this unfortunately came generally after dark. Some of Ohio State opponents were fortunately able to secure much more advantageous practice conditions—Illinois had two hours of daylightwork—and were therefore able to turn out more finished teams. Considering conditions existing the football season of 1918 has been as satisfactory as could be expected.

The Gymnasium has been used for a barracks for men in military training for more than a year. This has handicapped basket ball and general gymnasium work. Basket ball was continued in 1917-1918 in a rented hall under severe difficulties. The basket ball forces for this year of 1918-1919 started practice work a month or more late, but will be able to use the gymnasium after Christmas vacation and a fair season is expected.

With the war virtually over and most of the difficulties in the way of athletic programs past, we feel that athletics have been justified by the attitude of the colleges and by the men who have entered and made good in service. A prominent man writing from the front line says, "Our boys are simply irresistible. They are the greatest fighters in the world. Why? Because they have the spirit, the morale." This spirit is in a large measure the result of training on the play fields of America and not the result of military discipline.

Intercollegiate athletics in the period before us will see even better days than before. They are to receive as participants a large number of well trained men who have faced the stern realities of life. The class of competition is bound to be very high. Some splendid teams are expected. The benefits of athletic competition are to be shared by a much greater number of men. The intramural idea will obtain and everybody must—and will want to—get into the game. We are facing a period when greater emphasis than ever will be placed on physical training.

Football Season 1918

With two Western Conference Championships in succession to its credit Ohio State started its 1917 season with the most discouraging outlook in the history of the University. Not a single letter man returned and only Wiper, Bell, Metzger and Howenstine of the 1917 squad registered in school. Of these men only Wiper and Howenstine stayed throughout the season. Bell and Metzger both going into the army before the Western Conference games.

From the 1917 freshman team most of the varsity material was drawn. On the line Huffman, Friedman, Addison, Zentmyer and Slyker were sophomores. Farcasin, Davies and Myers were backfield men who had had freshman experience a year ago. Myers, however, had enlisted in the navy before the season opened and was called for duty at the Great Lakes the week of the Illinois game and did not play in any of the Big Ten contests.

The Ohio State stock took a decided brace soon after practice was started when Clarence MacDonald, letter man from 1916, and Roy Rife, who had played on Ohio University in 1917, were sent to the University from the navy to continue their education at Ohio State. MacDonald was appointed acting captain before the Wesleyan game and later elected to take the place of "Chic" Harley who was picked as captain after the 1917 season, but who enlisted in the aviation corps instead of returning to the University. MacDonald was used at end throughout the season with Rife at half and as punter.

In addition to Harley the men on the 1917 squad who would have been eligible this year, but who did not return, doing service for their country instead, were Stinchcomb, Willaman, Schweitzer, Myers, Weiche, Nemecek, Miller, Fuller, Johnson, Cramer and Hamilton. Hamilton was in medical college but did not have time for football practice.

Ohio State was confronted with the same dilemma as all other colleges, as to what action the war department would take on athletics. It was finally decided by the Western Conference to turn control of all intercollegiate athletics over to the Government. The committee on education agreed to allow all members of the Students' Army Training Corps to participate in intercollegiate games, regardless of eligibility or class standing. This ruling allowed the colleges to use freshmen on their football teams, ineligible or men not in the training corps. The war department also decided to allow each team one overnight trip during the season.

The government ruling caused a revision of the schedules and the Northwestern game was dropped. The date of the Michigan contest was shifted from October 26 to November 30. The matter of practice was left to the military authorities at the different universities to decide in order not to conflict with schedules.

In the matter of practice Ohio State faced its hardest problem. The only opportunity given was an hour after drill until evening mess. This hour coming from 5:00 p. m. to 6:00 p. m., practically all the work was done after dark under electric lights. The Buckeyes faced another difficulty in that Coach Wilce, who attended medical college throughout the season, was also a member of the training corps and had only a short time each day to spend with the team.

Whereas other Western Conference schools were allowed from two to three hours of daylight practice Ohio State was forced to be content with the one hour of after dark work. Not only was Coach Wilce handicapped in developing his candidates, who had had some previous experience, but he had practically no time to work with his freshman material. While Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan teams were composed almost entirely of first year men, Ohio State used only one as a regular, that being Pixley, who was used at guard all season.

Coach Wilce did get to use three of the men in the veterinary reserve, Sneddon and McCune on the line and Moeller in the backfield. In addition to MacDonald and Rife, Early, substitute center, was sent to the University from the navy. Volzer, who was in the dental reserve, was used occasionally on the line.

The Buckeyes, despite the difficulties under which the team was struggling, was started out rather auspiciously, leading the rooters to predictions of another Western Conference championship. Wesleyan came to Ohio Field October 5 with one victory to its credit and was walloped 41 to 0. The game marked the advent of "Shorty" Davies as an Ohio State star. The little Irontonian reminded the few old time fans of Harley or Stinchcomb, by his sensational dodging. Wesleyan was slightly crippled through injuries and did not put up the brand of football it played later in the season.

In addition to Davies, Myers and Matheny performed well in the backfield for the Buckeyes. Matheny by his line plunging, and Myers by his end running were big helps to Ohio State. The defensive work of the team seemed almost without a flaw, the ends especially showing to an advantage in stopping prospective end runs of the Methodists.

During the week between the Wesleyan and Denison games Coach Wilce's mother died in Milwaukee and he was away from the team several days, Director St. John doing the coaching. Denison presented a better defense than Wesleyan and the Buckeyes were at a disadvantage with the loss of Addison and Gillam, who were both ill with influenza. Despite these handicaps, Ohio was able to defeat the Granville squad 34 to 0. This game was also featured by the playing of the Ohio State backfield, Davies in particular looming as a Varsity star. Matheny and Myers were a great help to him in the matter of interference. On the line Huffman was beginning to stand out as a star, while the ends again appeared to be able to cope with any end runs, in addition to handling forward passes.

After the Denison game on October 12 the Buckeyes were idle until Case was played, November 19. In the meanwhile the influenza epidemic hit the country and the Northwestern contest was cancelled because of the difficulties in traveling at that time. The Michigan game was also postponed until November 30. Practice was continued during the time no game was played and November 9 Ohio State defeated a weak Case team 56 to 0. Davies again ran wild on his opponents, scoring practically at will. With the exception of his sensational playing the game was void of interest. The Case team was badly crippled because the army doctors at the Cleveland University refused to allow any of the backfield men to participate because of their physical condition.

A week later the Buckeyes made their first and only trip of the season, it being to Illinois, where two years before "Chic" Harley had become famous by defeating the Illini in the last few minutes of play. But the Illini, twice defeated by Ohio State, dazzled the Buckeyes by an offense much different from that the Ohio team had met in at-home contests. A big line with two pairs of fast backfield men was too much for the Buckeyes to stop, Illinois winning 13 to 0. Illinois received the ball on the kickoff and never stopped going until after a touchdown was scored.

Only once during the game did Ohio State threaten to score. That was when Rife ran 70 yards through the entire Illinois team, only to be tackled and fumble on the one yard line, the Suckers recovering the ball and punting out of danger. After this Illinois was able to score again. The game was played on a wet field which made forward passing impossible for either team. Illinois easily had the better team, but had Rife been able to hold the ball on his long jaunt the Buckeyes might have braced enough to get a tie. The game marked Rife as a star in the backfield. It also emphasised the seriousness of the short practice which was making it impossible for Coach Wilce to develop a team capable of defeating Western Conference foes, when the other teams were having over twice as much time for work.

After the Illinois beating the Buckeyes improved greatly during the week and started the game against Wisconsin the next Saturday like a new team, twice working the ball to the Badgers ten yard line only to loose it on downs. Wisconsin punted out of danger twice but the third time Halfback Smith dropped back and instead of kicking ran around right end for 68 yards and a touchdown.

SCENE AT OHIO STATE AND OHIO WESLEYAN FOOTBALL GAME

In the third quarter Ohio State again resumed the offensive and carried the ball to its opponent's one yard line where a forward pass was intercepted which ruined the Buckeyes last chance to score. In the final period when Ohio State was forward passing on almost every play, Smith intercepted a pass and ran 80 yards for his second touchdown. Ohio State's only score came in the second period as a result of a drop kick by Wiper, the only points the Buckeyes made against Western Conference opponents. The final score was 14 to 3.

Up to the time Wisconsin scored the second time it had not made a first down except for the two long runs. In that time Ohio State had gained almost at will until within scoring distance when the offense was lacking. The line played well for the most part, Huffman and Pixley especially doing well on their side.

With the Michigan game a week later the outlook for Ohio State was not bright. Michigan was admitted to have one of the best teams in the west and the odds were against the Buckeyes. The Wolverines presented one of the heaviest squads ever seen on Ohio Field the day of the game but for three quarters the light Scarlet and Gray men fought their opponents to a scoreless tie. Then in the final period a long punt by Steketee, of Michigan, went over Rife's head and rolled to the three yard line. Rife attempted to punt from behind his own goal, but tackle Goetz, of Michigan, blocked the ball and fell on it for a touchdown.

After this the Wolverine's weight began to tell and they were able to score again, this touchdown resulting from a forward pass from Steketee to Dunne. Ohio State only came close to scoring once when Wiper missed a drop kick. The team played much better than at any time during the season, only the numerous heavy substitutes being able to wear down the Ohioans. The whole Ohio State line played brilliantly and resisted the attack of the Wolverines. Roy Rife by his punting, and Huffman at tackle, stood out as the stars for the Buckeyes.

Only one freshman, Pixley, was used as a regular on the team, the remainder being for the most part sophomores who will be eligible again next fall. Clarence MacDonald was the only man who had won a letter in previous years. Two of the men, Bell and Myers, who were awarded letters, were called for service before the end of the season. No captain was elected for 1919, it being decided because of the number of veterans who would probably return, it would not be advisable to elect an inexperienced man as leader.

EVERET ADDISON

“Vert” was handicapped by having influenza which kept him out of half the season. He played in all the Western Conference games but would probably have much stronger had he not been sick for such a long time. He was used at both tackle and guard and should improve greatly by next fall.

THOMAS C. DAVIES

“Shorty” was the sensation of the season, despite the fact that he was not able to gain much ground in the Western Conference games. With better interference he would have been a real star. His speed and dodging ability made him the most feared man on the team. He also was a punter and an excellent tackler. His year of experience will make him much better for 1919.

CONSTANTINE FARCASIN

This halfback did not get to play regularly but was a good plunger and fighter. He was light for a back field made up of extremely light material. His playing improved in each game. He is a sophomore so more will be seen of him.

SCENE AT OHIO STATE AND DENISON FOOTBALL GAME

MAX FRIEDMAN

Friedman had never played center until substituted when Gillam was taken ill. Although his passing was not accurate in several games his unfamiliarity with the position accounts for this. He was the lightest man on the line, but fought hard all the time.

NEAL GILLAM

This center was taken sick with influenza early in the season and never regained his strength enough to play regular. He was an excellent passer but slowed up greatly after being sick. He was used some at guard.

IOLAS M. HUFFMAN

Undoubtedly this lineman was the star defensive man of the team. A player on the "Hap" Courtney type with lots of fight, he was able to knife through time and again in different games and throw his opponents for loses. He was used both at tackle and guard. his playing warrants the prophesy that no matter how many veterans return next fall "Huff" will still be a regular.

SCENE AT OHIO STATE AND CASE FOOTBALL GAME

OLIVER S. MATHENY

“Red” was playing his first year as a regular after having been declared ineligible a year ago. His weight and fighting ability always was felt in the backfield. He was not an experienced man but another year of competition may see him ranked with the stars of the west.

CLARENCE A. MACDONALD

This single veteran was returned to school from the navy after seeing a year of service. He was appointed captain to take the place of “Chic” Harley and later elected to the leader’s position. He was handicapped somewhat by the fact that the Buckeyes did not have a good forward passer, the tall end being more efficient at this kind of play than any other. Few runs went around his flank.

JOE H. McCUNE

Although suffering from injuries most of the season “Mac” showed his real ability against the big Michigan team, in which game he spilled play after play coming around his side, in addition to hurrying down under punts. He was good at handling forward passes but was not worked much in this way. It was McCune’s first year in college football.

SCENE AT OHIO STATE AND WISCONSIN FOOTBALL GAME.

CYRIL E. MYERS

The hardest blow to Ohio State's chances came when "Truck" was called by the navy the week of the Illinois game. His blocking and interference was one of the causes of Davies' long gains and with him out of the game the little half was helpless. Myers was much better as a ball totor than he showed in the three games in which he played.

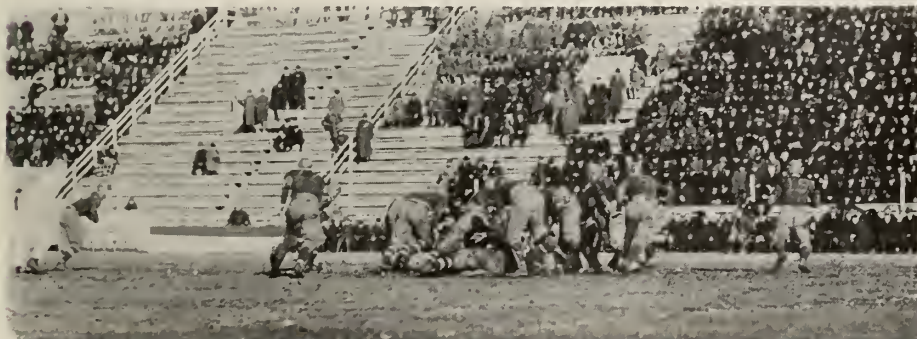

LLOYD A. PIXLEY

"Butch" will in all probability hold the honor of being the only Ohio State freshmen to receive a letter since athletics were put on a sound basis. Although only 18 years old he weighed 220 pounds and was a tower of strength at guard. Not an experienced man, but nevertheless he always was willing to fight to the finish. His ability as a kicker was noteworthy. He was not given much opportunity to punt but his kickoffs were always long and high.

ROY RIFE

Like MacDonald Rife was sent to school from the navy. He had played a year of football on Ohio University and was a high school star. After Myers left he was used at right half and in "Big Ten" games, by his punting and running, he was the best Ohio State player. He was never outpunted and numerous times his long spirals kept the Ohio State goal from danger. He was handicapped by his weight.

SCENE AT OHIO STATE AND MICHIGAN FOOTBALL GAME

WILLIAM V. SLYKER

Another year of playing and this end should rival any of the Varsity flanks of past seasons. Slyker has a perfect build for an end, tall and rangy, with plenty of weight. His lack of experience and practice made it difficult for him to handle the rushes of the Western Conference teams but in the Michigan game he showed improvement over the other contests.

E. R. SNEDDON

This big fellow will go down as being the oldest man to play on an Ohio State team up to date. But more important than that his fighting qualities made him an excellent guard, who could hold his own with the best. Sneddon has had some previous experience but never as a Varsity regular.

HAROLD WIPER

The only score made against Western Conference opponents was made by Wiper, who dropped kicked a goal against Wisconsin. His ability to score by the air route made him a most valuable member of the team. He was dangerous any place within the 50-yard line. He could also punt and place kick. It was his first year as a regular quarterback.

FREDERICK J. BELL

Bell was the only senior on the team but was sent to an officer's training school before the season was half finished. He was big enough to hold his own on the line and with his past experience would have made a regular had he not been called by the army.

Western Conference Scholarship Award

HOWARD YERGES

Howard Yerges, Engineering '18, quarterback for both of Ohio State's championship elevens, was last spring awarded the University's Western Conference scholarship medal, awarded annually to the best student athlete in each of the Big Ten schools. Yerges won three letters as quarterback of the eleven and won the medal with thirty-eight hours of merit work. In addition, accumulated 81 hours of "G" work and was able to get his degree in engineering in three and one-half years. Yerges recently received a commission as ensign, having taken his training at Hampton Roads, Va.

The idea of awarding a medal was started in the Western Conference in 1915 to stimulate scholarship among athletes by honoring the senior athletes in each Big Ten University with the best class record. Arthur S. Kiefer, Varsity football man for three years was Ohio State's best student-athlete in 1915. The next year it went to Charles A. Carran, Western Conference Tennis champion and for three years Ohio Intercollegiate champion and last year it was awarded to Allen R. Rankin, Varsity track star, holder of the Big Six record in the discus throwing event.

Review of 1918 Baseball Season

Although Ohio State relinquished its hold on the Western Conference baseball title last season, the Buckeye team closed its schedule with an enviable record, despite the handicap of breaking in a new and inexperienced combination. Captain Skelley at third base and Friedman at second were the only veterans back, the balance of the champions having been lost to the team, either through graduation or enlistment.

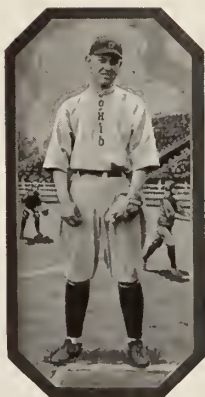

With this as a nucleus a team was built up that finished with eight games won in a ten game schedule. Until the last week of the season, Ohio State was in the running again for the Western Conference championship, but a three to two defeat at Ann Arbor, by Michigan, crimped the Buckeye chances, and Illinois, the only other team to defeat Ohio State, was left to battle it out with the Wolverines for the Big Ten title.

Illinois downed the Scarlet and Gray 4 to 3 after a tussle that might have gone either way until the last man was retired in the ninth. Other Big Ten contests resulted in two victories over Indiana, 2—0 and 7—3, and a 4—2 decision over Purdue at Lafayette. In the Ohio Conference the Buckeyes were consistent winners, trimming Wesleyan twice, 9—3 and 4—2, downing Capital 15—8 and 11—4 and disposing of Wooster 8—1.

Fish, a sophomore was the iron man in the pitcher's box. He hurled masterly ball against Michigan and Illinois. He also worked both games in which Indiana was defeated. Kime, a south paw, was Ohio's next best bet in the box.

Behind the bat, Clark, a senior, worked regularly. Mann and Panek shared the first-basing duties; Friedman and Skelley took care of second and third, Fenner was at short, Fuller in left field, Fogle in center and Metzger and Weltner in right. Fogle and Fenner were two promising finds from the sophomore class.

CAPTAIN WILLIAM C. SKELLY

Here was a pillar of strength around which Coach St. John built his team. Skelley led in hitting and fielding. Many blows that ordinarily would have gone for hits were turned into put-outs by quick work of "Bill" in tossing to first.

LEON A. FRIEDMAN

"Lee" was the only other man left over from the team the year before and consequently was expected to come through at second and cause Coach St. John no worry about the position. He made good and was one of the most dependable players on the team.

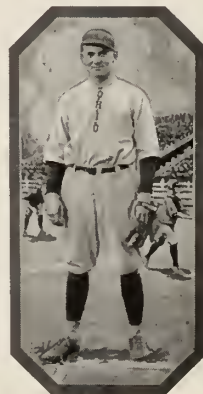

WAYNE FOGLE

Coming to the Varsity squad with the spurs of a freshman star, this fleet outfielder made good in centerfield off the reel. The gardens were an early worry but with material like Fogle on hand who could field and hit equally as well, his attentions could drift to the other parts of the team.

MARK A. FULLER

Fuller was a favorite among the fans, due largely to his sensational catches in left field and his timely long hits. He was rewarded for his excellent work by being elected to captain for 1919.

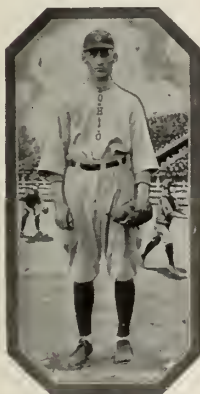

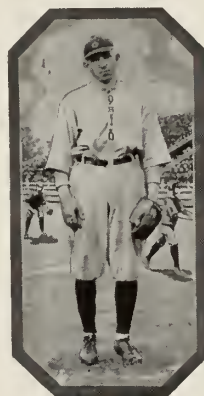

RAY FENNER

To find a man to fill the shoes of Shotstop Fred Norton looked like an impossible job to Director St. John, but in the scramble this freshman star came to the front and filled in in fine style. He not only was a steady fielder, but hit in the cleanup position most of the time.

WALTER E. METZGAR

“Tommy” alternated in the right field with Weltner, but had the call most of the time, being a more seasoned man in the position. He was steady, both in the field and at the bat.

SHELDON J. MANN

Although reporting late for the squad, Mann showed his ability to field and shared with Panek the first base honors.

WILBUR C. FISH

Stepping into the box for the first time as a Big Ten hurler with the responsibilities of Wayne Wright shifted to his shoulders, Fish turned out to be an iron man and except for his two defeats by Illinois and Michigan would have come through with another championship for the Buckeyes.

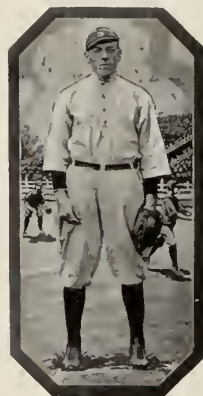

HAROLD KIME

A team is never complete unless it can boast of a southpaw of good caliber, this portsider coming through on several occasions, and proved himself a great help to Fish.

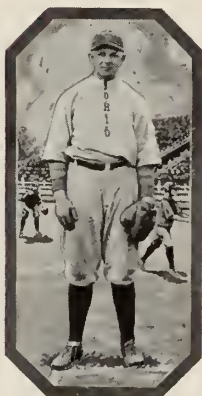

PAUL BUCHER

Bucher did not get into action often but he was on hand for the practices and ready to relieve a hurler in distress. He was serving his third and last year on the nine.

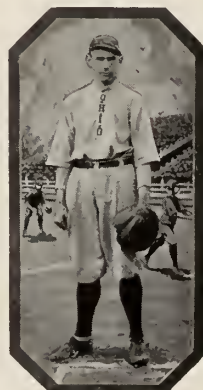

JOHN A. PANEK

Although possessing an over supply of avoirdupois Panek shared in the honors at first base, showing good ability in taking short and low throws, and hitting.

HARRY W. CLARK

When the nine felt a pressing need for a catcher, able to hold the slants of Fish, Clark came to the front after being a bench warmer for two years. His hitting was not heavy, but he handled Fish in good shape.

EDGAR P. WELTNER

Like in basketball, Weltner showed up almost unknown for the baseball and alternated in right field with Metzger and also acted as first relief for Clark behind the bat.

Run Maker's Cup

WILLIAM C. SKELLEY

Captain "Bill" Skelley with 1465 points was awarded the Potter's Run Makers Cup at the close of the 1918 base ball season for his ability on the team. The cup, which is given by Frank D. Potter, ex '97, of New York, is awarded to the man who proves himself most valuable to the team on the offensive, or the most instrumental in scoring runs. The points taken into consideration are safe arrivals at first base, sacrifice hits, stolen bases, runs scored, and runs batted in. The cup is kept in the possession of the Athletic Association but the winner's name is engraved each year.

Skelley is the fifth man to win the cup, it having been awarded first in 1914. In that year Sidney E. Mix, with 1442 points won the cup. Since that time it has been awarded to Orville House in 1915, Sam Robinson in 1916, Fred Norton in 1917 and Skelley this year. Norton with 1847 points had the largest average.

GRIFFITH

Review of 1918 Track Season

K. BEERY

Owing to the uncertainty surrounding the personnel of Ohio State's track team last spring, with Griffith the only sure heavy point man again in line, just two dual meets in addition to the annual Big Six meet were scheduled. Despite the heavy losses of star track men, the Buckeyes, under the direction of Coach Castleman, made a clean get-away with all three meets.

Doubly sweet was the Big Six victory, being the thirteenth straight for the Scarlet and Gray team. Oberlin and Ohio Wesleyan were both coming with stronger teams than ever before and were expected to give the Ohio men stiff opposition.

The Buckeyes, however, had seventeen points to spare in winning over the field, with Oberlin dropping to third place, the lowest position it has held in 16 years of Big Six competition, and Ohio Wesleyan copping second place.

Ensign, of Ohio Wesleyan, was the individual star of the meet, garnering 18 points from firsts in the 220-yard hurdles, high jump and pole vault and second in the broad jump. Griffith, of Ohio State, took first in the javelin with a throw of 156 feet 6¼ inches, eclipsing his Big Six record established a year ago of 141 feet 6 inches. Farquhar, Oberlin's dash man, was a disappointment, failing to feature as in other years. One of the best races of the meet was run by Roach, who easily captured the two mile run for Ohio State.

The Buckeyes won the two dual meets, trouncing Ohio Wesleyan 88 to 37 on April 27, and nosing out Indiana on a heavy track, May 11, 67 to 59, both meets being held on Ohio Field.

Griffith was the mainstay for the Varsity in all meets. Against Wesleyan he scored 16 points by winning the javelin throw and low hurdles and taking second in the high hurdles and high jump, while in the Indiana meet "Bill" again won the javelin, high jump and high hurdles and tied with Schimanski, of Ohio State, for first in the low hurdles, garnering 19 points.

"Griff" established a new javelin record for Ohio Field in the Wesleyan meet by tossing the stick 154 feet. The old mark was 146 feet held by Tress Pittinger, made in 1916. Then against Indiana, Griffith broke his own record with a toss of 162 feet 9¾ inches and in the Big Six meet set a new record of 156 feet 6¼ inches for that classic. Altogether, Griffith scored 56 points for Ohio in the Big Six and the other two meets, and in recognition of his achievements he was elected track captain for the coming year.

WILLIAM GRIFFITH

“Long Bill” was the only reliable man left to Coach Castleman and it was his point making that enabled the Scarlet and Grey to come through with a clean slate in track. He figured in the javelin, making a new record in that event, high jump and high and low hurdles.

A. ROSCOE DUFF

Duff was a sure winner in the 880 yard dash, taking first in that event in each of the three meets.

BERNARD G. SCHIMANSKY

“Red” figured in the high and low hurdles and the relays team, adding several points to the total with his work.

ANDREW J. NEMECEK

“Nemmy” registered with a first place in every meet in the discus throwing event. The coach always counted his points before a meet.

CARLYLE K. HAMMOND (DECEASED.)

For endurance this lad had every other distance runner on the team faded. Being a member of the cross-country team, he entered the mile-run in every meet and scored two firsts and a third.

GEORGE A. POE

He was another dependable point winner and holder of the Big Six record in the shot put, made in 1917.

CHARLES A. NAVIN (DECEASED.)

Navin won his "O" last year by making points in the 100-yard dash. He also ran the the low hurdles.

CHARLES A. MILLER

"Speedy" was one of the prettist runners that ever went down the cinder path on Ohio Field, and we regret that he is not with us again this year. His specialty was the 440-yard dash. He also ran the 220-yard dash and the hurdles and was a high jumper.

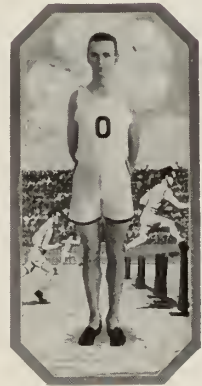

CHARLES E. HUBBARD

Hubbard threw the javelin and the grenades and won his "O" in these events.

He was the favorite distance runner with the fans, never failing to give a pretty race in the two-mile.

WALTER S. BEEBE

Had Beebe trained more he could have broken Poe's record in the shot put, in the belief of Coach Castleman. As it was he placed in the shot put taking one first and one second and third in the javelin.

ROBERT R. STEPHENSON

"Bob" put up a battle to anyone who opposed him in the century or the 220-yard dash. He was also a mainstay on the relay team, being one of the four holders of the Big Six record made in 1916.

Review of 1918 Tennis Season

Represented on the tennis courts by a new team last spring, Ohio State battled well, but was unsuccessful against Western Conference competition. In the Ohio Conference, after dropping a doubles match to Oberlin, the Scarlet and Grey came back and disposed of the same combination and annexed all titles in the Tenth Annual Ohio Intercollegiate tournament held on Varsity courts, May 16, 17 and 18.

Wirthwein, who succeeded Frambes as captain when the latter entered the service won the singles championship from Marvin of Oberlin, in five sets while Wirthwein and Davis defeated Havighurst and Lowry of Ohio Wesleyan for the doubles championship. Dual meets for the season resulted in victories over Capital, Ohio Wesleyan (twice), Otterbein, Kenyon and defeats at the hands of Oberlin, Michigan and Chicago.

Letters were awarded to Captain Wirthwein, Davis, Captain Stark Frambes, who enlisted early in the season and Manager Ratner.

Captain WIRTHWEIN, Manager RATNER, DAVIS.

Because of the early date the Makio is published this year the 1919 basketball season is not included. The season was started later than usual because of the gymnasium being in use as a barracks for the S. A. T. C.

After the gymnasium was vacated practice started with Captain Weltner, "Red" Mathney and "Jimmie" Francis in school. Kennedy MacDonald who was released from the army, also returned to school before the opening of the season. Fourteen games were scheduled, eight of them being with Western Conference teams. Because of the inability to start practice when the other schools did the Buckeyes were at a disadvantage at the start but with material better than usual a successful season was expected.

Intramural Athletics

The blight that attacked every branch of athletics last year likewise had its effect on the Intramural athletics at the university. Until last year this department was one of the most popular in school as it gave a great number of students an opportunity to get out in the open for participation in the various sports, which they would not have otherwise done.

Leagues of clubs, colleges and fraternities had been formed and full schedules for each had been drawn up. Football Coach John W. Wilce was director of Intramurals and a student management was organized.

Last year very little was done in the way of Intramurals on account of the uncertainty of things and the disorganization which seemed to be everywhere. Early in the outdoor season, Coach Wilce was relieved of his duties as the director of Intramurals, to allow him to devote his time to studies. Karl T. Finn was appointed to take charge of what activities existed.

A meeting was called and an inter-fraternity league organized to perpetuate the name of the department. Three leagues were formed and the winning teams of each league got together for an elimination series to determine the champion of the school.

Such activities, though small, aided materially in keeping the name of Intramurals fresh in the minds of the student body, and it is hoped, and it will probably be so, that after things come to a more certain basis the department of University Intramural athletics will again be the big feature of our college life.

Ohio State Athletes On Camp Teams

While athletics at Ohio State were struggling with the military department and the football season at the university was anything but successful, former Buckeye athletes were making the university famous by starring on army and navy teams. Most notable of all were the Ohio State men playing on Great Lakes and Cleveland Naval Reserve teams. Frank Willaman, fullback on the Varsity in 1917, played the same position all fall at the Great Lakes. Harry Bliss, a freshman star the same year, also played on the team.

“Pete” Stinchcomb was the star of the Cleveland team with his open field running and generalship. On the team with him were Art Kiefer '15, Mark Fuller, baseball captian for 1919. Grant Ward helped coach the team. This team went through the season without defeat, winning from the previously undefeated Pitt team as a climax of the season.

“Shifty” Bolen, 1917 end, captained the Princeton aviators team which defeated Harvard Radio, 29 to 0, Bolen scoring a touchdown after catching a forward pass. At Camp Sherman Louis Pickerel was playing quarterback.

Ohio State's greatest football player, “Chic” Harley played only one game, that at Camp Johnson on Thanksgiving Day. “Chief” Peabody, end in 1917, was on the same team while Earnie Godfrey was coach.

NEW WOMAN'S BUILDING

Young Men's Christian Association

The work of the Young Men's Christian Association has been radically changed this year, due to the presence of the Student Army Training Corps. It has meant that the old student work has been almost completely transformed into Army Y. M. C. A. work. All local College Associations have been taken over by the National War Work Council. All secretaries on the jobs in colleges have been made army secretaries, responsible to the war work council. This was done in order that the identity of the old student department of the Y. M. C. A. might not be lost and that when war clouds blew over it might go on filling its old functions.

At Ohio State University the Association has tried to fill the needs of the students, needs that soon became pressing in view of the confinement to the campus. Up to November 27, nearly 25,000 letters have been written on paper furnished by the Y. M. C. A. Approximately $800 worth of stamps have been sold; an average of 500 men have used the offices daily. Quantities of scriptures and pamphlets have been distributed and efforts have been made to further the religious life of the men through the churches and personal work. Weekly religious meetings are also a part of the program. Weekly Saturday night entertainments have been given for S. A. T. C. men in the Chapel.

The employment bureaus and foreign student department are practically the only branches of work that have proceeded as in other years.

Y. M. C. A. Honor Roll

The following members of the Y. M. C. A. cabinets of the last four years are to be found in the service. The numerals indicate the year of Cabinet work. This list totals sixty out of an estimated total for seventy-five men who have seen service on the cabinets in the past four years.

Foreword

Departure of college men for military and naval service during the summer and the forepart of the first semester depleted fraternity ranks to such an alarming extent that at first it was feared that Greek letter life would be an event of the past. However with the institution of the Student's Army Training Corps here conditions were somewhat relieved.

Upper classmen, as was predicted, became a scarce article around chapter houses; so with the influx of the great number of freshmen students rehabilitation was immediately begun by the few remaining brothers. The majority of fraternities were soon made up of yearling members.

With the removal of the army corps into the barracks fraternities faced another serious difficulty. While many had already abandoned their houses for the current year and moved into smaller quarters, quite a few still retained them. These houses entailed quite a heavy financial expense which could not be kept clear without the constant attention of out of town men who ordinarily live in the chapter. So the great majority of fraternities immediately leased their houses and disbanded for the present or moved into apartments.

With fraternity life disorganized college activities died out or where possible were run on a much smaller scale. Inability due to uncertainty of absence from the military barracks, made permanent assembly nights impossible for most fraternities so strict organization was of course neglected.

The men's Pan-hellenic organization which was composed of Greek letter representatives started up at the beginning of the school year but, here again, military restrictions prevented competent organization so very few meetings were held.

This second semester will probably see fraternities once more returning to their normal status with social and school activities again in full swing. Old brothers will be constantly returning to the fire place of their chapter house and college life will again appear.

The following organizations due to temporary disbandment, absence of controlling heads or neglect in turning in their service lists before presstime, are not represented in this year's fraternity section of the Makio; Triangle, Newman, Psi Omega, Delta Theta Sigma, Alpha Rho Chi, Phi Alpha Gamma and Phi Delta Phi.

War Activitives

Behold the godmothers of the children of Bellevue! It happened through Dorothy Canfield Fisher, so prominent in war work and in the literary world. Mrs. Fisher was a member of Beta Nu Chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma not so very many years ago. She is now in France while her husband is at the front. She takes care of great numbers of refugee children, giving them clothing and food to keep them alive. She has granted our chapter the privilege of being headquarters for all the clothing that the people of this country send to her for the French who need it so badly.

The Y.M.C.A. and the Y.W.C.A. carried on a strenuous campaign last year on the campus. Kappa Kappa Gamma pledged $500 for the work. It seemed almost an impossibility for so small a number of girls to raise that sum of money. In spite of all views to the contrary, our sum was raised within the allotted time.

After we had done so well in raising our pledge to the Y.M.C.A., we continued to give the tea dances which had been such a success, and with the money made in this fashion, we helped with the Dorothy Canfield Fisher Fund for French Refugees.

Mrs. Dorothy Canfield Fisher, '99, is right behind the lines in France, where she is effectively helping the refugees who stream toward Paris.

Ida M. Bringardner, '14, is engaged in war work here in Columbus, and for some time has been in charge of the settlement work of the Red Cross for the families of the soldiers.

War Activities

Kappa Alpha Theta has been doing its best to keep its kite sailing high up in the sky of war relief activities. First of all, we adopted our French orphan to whom we have sent several boxes of clothing. Then when the Y.M.C.A. campaign was started, we pledged as a chapter three hundred dollars, besides our individual gifts and we have fully redeemed this pledge. Each Theta has tried to do her share of Red Cross work, making surgical dressings and answering all other calls which have been sent out either by the University Hospital or by the Red Cross headquarters.

This year the alumnae and active chapters have united to establish a dispensary in France. This dispensary will be under the direction of the American Committee for Devastated France, which is doing the wonderful work of rekindling the home fires in the Aisne district, under the leadership of Miss Anne Morgan. This dispensary will bear our name and will be opened on Christmas day.

Lastly, we mention our service flag which now bears two stars and to which another will soon be added. Last June Mary Rowlen, ex'20, began her training as a Red Cross nurse. Soon after Mrs. McManigal (Elizabeth Hoffman, ex'19) enlisted as a naval yeowoman and was stationed in Baltimore. Julia Ann Whitehill is awaiting her call as a Red Cross nurse. *

Our only hope is that our kite may never near the tree tops but may rise to an even higher point than it has yet reached.

War Activities

The year of 1917-1918 was a year spent by most of the organizations of the University in war work. We of Ohio Beta chapter of Pi Beta Phi tried by many methods to do our bit in the great work. The chapter owns a life membership in the Red Cross. We raised for the benefit of the University Y.M.C.A. $1003. We made $850 of this amount through co-operative work of the whole chapter. A musicale was given, the program made up entirely by members of the Sorority. We had numbers by an instrumental sextette, piano, Hawaiian guitar, vocal and cornet solos, aesthetic dancing acts, and a one act playlet. On Christmas eve we presented the play for the benefit of the soldiers at Camp Sherman. Part of our money was raised by the selling of special issue of the Sun Dial and the Lantern. Several subscription dances were held, one of which was in connection with another musicale. The remainder of our subscription was given in individual pledges among the active members. Every member of the chapter belongs to the Red Cross and the Patriotic League.

Edna Pugh is enlisted for canteen work.

Every member of the sorority is also a member and an active worker in the Red Cross organization and the Patriotic League. Last winter we furnished the material and made dresses for the children of devastated France and Belgium. In addition, all of the girls have knit articles for soldiers and sailors.

The war work of the sorority as a whole does not of course include the pledges made personally by its members to the Army Y.M.C.A. fund, the Liberty Bonds or Thrift Stamps purchased or the hours they have devoted to Red Cross work.

The pledge made by Delta Zeta to the Army Y.M.C.A. fund was $250. The money usually spent for spreads was turned over for war work, and at the few parties held the girls made bandages.

The active and alumnae chapters have together adopted two French war orphans. The alumnae chapter has also been organized into a Patriotic League unit.

Among the alumnae who are doing war work are: Mildred Foureman, ex'20, who is information Clerk at the Hostess House at Wright Field; Ruth Murray, '15, who is in training as a war nurse and Helen Murray, '13, who is in the Ordnance Department at Washington, D.C.

War Activities

Epsilon Chapter of Delta Gamma is not ashamed of the part she played in the great World War. The raising of money for various purposes and by various means meant months of planning, hard work and much self-denial. By selling Sun Dials, by giving a subscription dance, and by personal pledges. The chapter not only exceeded its Y.M.C.A. war pledges but contributed to the Belgium Relief fund of the national fraternity. Support was given to a French orphan to whom the girls sent a Christmas box and from whom they received letters. The Patriotic League work of the chapter consisted of the making of garments for Belgian children and an all day sewing helped to make this undertaking a success. All in all the girls have kept faithfully in mind that "Carry On" has been a universal motto.

Bertha Holtkamp, '18, is engaged as a bacteriologist at Camp Jackson, S.C.

Margaret Johnson and Enid King are doing government work in Washington.

War Activities

As an organization, Alpha Phi has undertaken to establish a foyer or home at Roanne where the loyal munition toilers may come for rest and comfort. It is under the supervision of the Y.W.C.A. but in charge of an Alpha Phi and is known as the Alpha Phi Foyer.

The Alumnae of Columbus have undertaken such war activities as could be managed by a comparatively small group in semi-monthly meetings. After the regular business has been concluded the balance of the meeting is devoted to whatever philanthropic activity is deemed most urgent. Very often this has taken the form of Red Cross sewing or mending as on one occasion forty shirts were made. But about the most interesting obligation assumed by the Chapter as a whole is the adoption of a little French girl. The secretary corresponded with the mother of the child to ascertain her needs; thereupon the members secured for her a complete outfit, such as should insure her comfort during the winter months.

Individually our members have rendered conspicuous service. Ethel Gilkey '12, served on the University Committee during the last Liberty Loan Drive. Vernetta Boylan ex'17, holds her passports and expects to sail shortly for France, where she will be engaged in Canteen work under the auspices of the Y.W.C.A.

Evangeline Wolfel '14, is in the Civilian Relief Branch of the Columbus Red Cross, while Kathleen Kent '18, is associated with the Canton Alliance of the Home Demonstration Agricultural War Service.

Caroline Herman '17, was Secretary of the State City Free Labor Exchange which was the sole employment agency for all labor working on the construction of Camp Sherman.

The active Chapter helped to raise $750 for the Y.W.C.A. drive on the campus last year and also adopted a French orphan. Many of the members were on committees for the last Loan Drive and have sewed or helped to raise funds for the comfort of the American soldiers.

In the spring a subscription dance was given the proceeds of which went to the University Y.M.C.A. War Fund. Every member of Phi Mu throughout the country contributed to a fund which the national Treasurer used to establish a nurses' hut in France.

As individuals, Clara Raynor Ranck did civilian relief work in connection with the Red Cross last summer. All the girls have done Red Cross work—sewing or bandage making. Lillian Cunningham, Bess Willis, Allison Delaplaine, Katherine Ferris, and Lucile Haswell are on committees for University war work.

War Activities

During the past year, Alpha Gamma Theta has been taking its share in the various war activities on the campus and in the city. All the girls are members of the Patriotic League and when the Patriotic League Glee Club was organized, four of the girls were successful in gaining membership. As a Patriotic League unit, the sorority met regularly during the summer to sew for the Belgian relief of the League. This is work which the girls did with much enthusiasm and enjoyment and it will continue to be their work during the coming year.

In addition the sorority has devoted much time to Red Cross work, making surgical dressings and convalescent robes. Knitting bags have been ever present and socks and sweaters have been turned in at frequent intervals to the city chapters.

Individual members are contributing their services in many different ways. One is doing volunteer motor service with the Red Cross, another is in the office of the Ohio Food Administration, and still another aided in food demonstrations about the city.

Two members of the sorority are doing government work as Laboratory Technicians. Helen Eisele is connected with the General Hospital No. 19, Azalea, North Carolina, and Ruth Williams is stationed in the General Hospital No. 17 at Markleton, Pa.

Besides these activities mentioned, each girl is quietly doing her part by endeavoring to conform her life to the altered conditions which the war presents.

War Activities

Established this fall, Chi Omega is the newest addition to the campus roll of Greek organizations. Among the activities engaged in by the fraternity has been the maintenance of two French children orphaned by the war. Individually, too, the members have tried to do their part. Corinne Waters spent the summer in giving lectures throughout the state, in the interests of food conservation. During the recent influenza epidemic also Miss Waters volunteered her services as nurses' aid and served at the University Hospital. As a farmerette Catherine Allison worked during the summer vacation on a farm near Mechanicsburg, while at the same time Esther G. Schreider was employed in making airplane parts in a government factory at Dayton. At present Margaret E. Fisher is acting as publicity chairman for the campus unit of the Patriotic League and Mary Wiseman is freshman sub-chairman of the same organization.

War Activities

As a chapter, Alpha Xi Delta is supporting a French orphan, sending her money and clothes and keeping in touch with her through numerous letters. By means of concerts, bakesales, selling sandwiches to girls in the "Gab" room, selling flowers at the games, individual pledges, and the managing of a movie theatre, we were able to contribute to the Y.M.C.A. fund. Each girl has done a definite amount of surgical work, sewing for Belgian children and our soldiers. Every girl is a member of the Patriotic League. Two girls, Helen McKinley and Florence Watson are in Home Service department of the Columbus Chapter of the Red Cross.

Among the alumnae Mrs. Kelly Enzor devotes her entire time to war work. Her interests are divided between the motor corps, canteen work, and surgical dressing. Mary Law '17, and Pearl Summey '15, have qualified and are awaiting a call to France for social service work. Emma Stubner '17, is fitting herself for reconstruction work. Rhoda Skick '17, has given concerts and lectures for war benefit. Grace Cicle ex '18, has been giving lectures in different cities on food "conservation."

TEAR GAS!

The following section has been dubbed the satire section, dear friends, but this is untrue. In the coming pages we have given to you a portrayal of life of the college man, omitting to a marked degree the fluff of banquets, the roll of green backs which a college student is so familiar with and the general good times in which they participate.

Therefore we dedicate these few memorable pages to the grind, the Phi Beta Kappa aspirant who lolls in an easy chair and smokes favorite cigars while we weary plodders go on and on in ever increasing numbers searching for knowledge. Nay, it is not satire.

OHIO'S BEST

Representative men

Our section below is giving to you without camouflage, representative men as they really are:

First there is old Gov. Brown, his broom is missing, 'tis true, but he has dropped it to salute the phototaker.

Mr. Hicks is next. He is the guy who stands in line on registration day and sees that we get the right change from the bursar.

Now there's Herb - if he ever moves his peanut stand from 15th and High The Ohio State University for boys and girls who want to go to college will have to move with him.

We gage next upon Tony. He combs and massages Ohio Field for her visitors.

Ah! That's Commy, many a blister has rose to blush unseen under his kindly guidance.

A real cop, 'gosh - he is traffic cop, peace promoter and has the record of finding a dead man in our orchard.

Had lead our singing - even the salvation Army envies him.

Last but not least is Doc. Doc Gourney holds out at the Athletic House and is famous for his smile and liniment.

"Gov. Brown"

"Mr. Hicks"

"HERB"

"Tony"

"Commy"

"Campus Cop"

"HAD"

"Doc"

Now this isn't any funny picture at all. Sweden may have the champion tennis player and Kansas may claim the heavy weight championship pugilist but when they begin to mention honors Ohio State bobs up with this for proof.

Its Anna Cornell alright just after she had written her name in the hall of fame by slinging the discus some 69 feet 10 and 1-2 inches, just two feet farther than the woman who had worn the feather in her hat for the same feat before Anna got to slinging things around.

We will surely be glad when Sweden decides to have another big athletic event for we are going to slide our world champion over there so fast that she'll add about four feet onto this record and then we'll take some moving pictures.

"FLU FIGHTERS"

Behold here the only members of Sigma Delta Chi now on our campus. The men have striven hard to keep apace with the fair maidens, who have been raising kale for patriotic reasons and finally decides that a vegetable stand on market would be the thing.

Scoop, who is much better acquainted with newspapers than gardening, held that an onion booth would be the best. The deed was accomplished and after digging many brown skinned spheres they stood one hour and fifty minutes at their stall. Scoop got cold feet from the frigid glances received when he called his ware of newly dug onions, so decided to quit.

Counting their gains and loss which did not include the price of the onions, it was found they had the required 25 cents to buy a stamp. Scoop carries it securely fastened about his neck, clinging madly to his bosom, at the end of a pink ribbon.

EVE OF OPENER

only a few more days remain which he got his squad into shape for Saturday's opening contest. Coach Wier sent his men a stiff two-hour sugar practice yesterday. Wier ran the team in style, giving promise of a season was paid to punting and passing.

MacDonald, star end of the champions, put in his appearance in the field yesterday evening as given a hearty welcome by the Wier Macdonald's return was one of the most interesting of the season. MacDonald was mentioned as an end, although he was only a half back due to the fact that he had been the regular at his specialty in snagging for present little attention is being paid to MacDonald's return from on Ronda having been sent back to complete his course, which leads to a new baseball man from the season, also sent back by the expected to appear on the evening act, as he says in the University Saturday, freshman captain last year at practice yesterday and make a bid for a permanent

FROSH GET SIGNAL
DRILL AS ONE-YEAR
RULE IS IN DEBATE

Anticipating that the Government will permit the playing of freshmen on Varsity this season, the yearlings were given their first practice yesterday. This is thought to be a wise move, as the entire freshman squad would be in shape to break into the first game Saturday should the Government report favorably on the playing of first-year men this season.

The fresh squad was divided into two teams yesterday and drilled in fundamental plays that the members may familiarize themselves with the signals. Practice with the first-team signals will probably continue.

Strong material is available in the freshman squad, which is certain to furnish several promising candidates for the one-year rule is suspended. At present little attention is being paid to individuals, but most of the coaching of the directors is being placed on the teaching of plays and signals.

All men now out for the first year team will probably be carried through the entire season. Many of the men who signed up for freshman football have failed to make their initial appearance on the field. Those men are urged to appear for practice as soon as at practice yesterday and make a bid for a permanent

WESLEYAN ROOTERS
BANKING ON VICTORY

Ohio Wesleyan is expecting to bring a record crowd of rooters to witness the Ohio State Wesleyan game Saturday.

Sam R. Firestone, business manager of the Ohio State cheer, is in Delaware today with a block of 600 tickets for the use of the Wesleyan rooters. The visitors expect to bring that number of supporters Saturday.

The Delaware Team has never failed to bring with it a big following, as the trip is short and the rivalry between the schools intense. This year's crowd is expected to be a record-breaker, since the Red and Black, due to its 62-0 victory last Saturday over Otterbein, is confident of displacing here on Saturday.

Tickets for the game will go on sale tomorrow at Hoanek's, Lazarus' and the Chittenden Hotel. The usual price will prevail, except that students may purchase their tickets for the west bleachers at 50 cents upon presentation of their class cards at the Athletic House. A block of seats will be reserved in the east bleachers for the Wesleyan rooters.

Tackled Against News

Again an Ohio State football star, but not on Ohio Field. William, fullback with last season's conference champs, was the big man for the Great Lakes Naval Training Station team last Saturday in its victory over Iowa. William scored the only touchdowns of the game, taking the ball over for six points from the 30-yard line in the first quarter.

Driscoll, Northwestern's Herky in 1916, made the other three points produced by the embryo seaman, who defeated Iowa 10 to 0.

HARLEY HERE ON YERLUGH

"Ch" Harley is back and watched the new Buckeye team scrimmage on Ohio Field Saturday. The famous Buckeye "Whack" whose brilliant work made the victory on Ohio Field for the last two seasons, is in Columbus on a short trip. Harley has been on a short trip to the Yerkling his eye.

Commy's Army

Above is the staff and below a bunch of privates from a new division of the army which Commy is responsible for. This is absolutely the first photo of its kind and was released just before we went to press. Many of the women say that while their husbands knew they had joined the new company they had held back the picture as a surprise.

LOWER ROW—We are giving below the names with which these women were best known, non de plume names being a policy with which we do not agree. Left to right—Huffman, Heinlein, McKee, Allbritian, Kinney, Smith, Scatterday, Johnson, Means, Swope, Beach, Reere, and Putnam.

S-s-s-sh, open that page easily or you'll spoil the whole show. Behold before you three trusty sisters of the Lantern staff. Yes you have guessed right, it is pay day and like all women, they figure that a new dress on the back is worth two in the store and therefore have come down to spend their weekly wages which the campus newspaper so willingly bestows upon them for their ink slinging.

SmoX has advertised suits at $\frac{1}{4}$ off and like the news sense they have also the happy faculty of the bargain sense. Smox doesn't carry strictly ladies clothes but in a pinch he can help a lot. The above is absolutely the first picture ever taken of Lantern women spending their hard earned wages.

Delco Achievement

WHEN Delco Starting, Lighting and Ignition was installed on war engines, airplane, truck and automobile, Delco engineers were sure of its performance.

War service demanded the best in all equipments.

And Delco durability, its ready response and unflinching performance filled the usual requirements.

Delco achievement in war service has been complete.

The same engineering skill, the same manufacturing efficiency, which produced war equipment, is found in Delco's peacetime products for automobiles.

IN every modern factory, building, home—for power, for heating, for plumbing—valves constitute an essential part of the equipment. Quality valves are essential because they insure good service, and reduce cost of maintenance.

JENKINS VALVES

are economical valves to specify and use—even at a higher price. For, in the last analysis, economy is a function of service — and Jenkins Valves have the qualities which enable them to withstand all the legitimate demands plus many of the abuses to which valves are subjected under crucial service tests.

The valves are made in a variety of patterns for steam, water, gas, gasoline, oil and other fluids, in brass, iron body, all iron and cast steel, and for all pressures—high or low.

Jenkins Bros. also make a line of mechanical rubber goods required in engineering service—including Jenkins Discs, Jenkins '96 and Jenarco sheet packing, gaskets and pump valves.

The diamond trade mark, on all genuine, stands for maximum service at minimum cost. It stands for good metal, sound, heavy castings, originality in design, careful workmanship.

The Correspondence of Samuel Adam Thomas, C-er,

Sadie Luella of Tankspur, Ohio

The following letters were written to take the place of the ancient calendar which was lost in the excitement of war.

O. S. U. College,
Sept. 24, 1918.

Dere Sadie:

Aint' you got no other stationery, Sadie, if you ain't for gosh sakes, go and get some other. What's the idea in havin' your address spread out on the envelopes, do you suspose I want the fellos to know I'm gettin a letter from the same girl every day?

Honest Sadie, its a good thing that your paw wouldn't spend the munej to send you to college, cause you never could stand this here sorority life. They say it is rushing time and the fello what named it sure knew what he was talking about, cause all them girls do is rush from morning untill night and them that rushes the hardest gets the freshmen. The Kappas had a special indoocement for their pledges this year they give them all bouquets and promised to let them write to that Belgain Markee they've adopted. They's a new sorority begun up here this year, the Chi Omegas, they got a house close to the Beta house as the dean of women would let them. Your cousin Nellie would make an awful good Chi Omega, Sadie, she is so strong for callin' up the fellos all the time.

W. H. Butterworth, Mgr., O. S. U. 1898

They was an awful accident up'here the other day. Two of the fellos, Roy Rife and Red Early and some girl was a'ridin' along in one of them Fords wou|d-be limisenes and Billy Graves come a'walkin' across the street. He's one of these here professors, Sadie and he writes a column a week of sugar-coated criticism of everything, for the Lantern. Nice way of takin' out your cussedness, ant' it? The Lantern, Sadie, is an imitation newspaper they try to put out every day up here. Well, Roy Rife had to turn awful sudden to keep from runnin' over Billy Graves, he didn't want to 'cause no hard feelin's so he turned awful sudden like and the machine stumbled and fell on its side. Oh, it was awful, Sadie, Red Earley cut his thumb, the only one on his right hand too. Roy Rife skinned his knee, but the girl didn't get hurt none, she was tougher, maybe than the rest of them.

How did the girls like them there frayternity pins, I sent you. I guess it knocked them cold, eh, Sadie? I was asked up to the Phi Gamma Delta house last night to eat, and Thomas B. Meek—that's what you call a misnamer, Sadie, but what's the use you wouldn't understand no how—he said he would lend me his private road map sos I could find my way. But he forgot to leave it and no one could tell me where it was, they said everybody thought they had a house but it was a secret and they kept it hid.

I would have had to buy my own grub, but Scoops Dumont come along and took me up to the Alpha Sigma Phi house. They eat downstairs in the cellar, Sadie,soas not to smell up the house, I guess. And anyways, Scoops said it made the fellos to uncomfortable to eat in a dining room, them not bein' used to it.

Dear Sadie:

I didn't get to write you as soon as I said I was goin' to, but there ain't no call for you to go and get sore about it, cause honest Sadie, if you knew this university life, you'd be glad you was gettin' a letter now.

Thank your Mother for me for the lunch she gave me along to eat on the train, it made me sick but tell her not to mind, I didn't have no hard feelings about it at all.

Honest Sadie my feet is so sore that I got to wear those slippers you knit for me. Dave Putman, that's my room-mate, he picked one up this morning and looked at it kinda queer and I says, "How does that strike you, huh?" And he says right back, "Oh, its striking all right its almost stunning, ain't it?" He's an awful funny guy, Dave is, always pullin' that kind of stuff. He says, "You better not wear them slippers at night or the landlady will get after you for makin' to much noise." But honest to gosh, Sadie, I stood in line so much them first three days that I most forgot how to set down. You see, Sadie, more fellows come to school than they was countin' on and they was so glad to see us they made us go see all the faculty in their offices.

I'll bet that all the girls that didn't come back to school because they thought they wasn't goin' to be no fellos here this year, and went to buiness college instead, is awful disappointed now cause the girls who did come back looked awful tickled when they saw all the fellos.

But I guess they wasn't no gladder to see us than these here frayternities was. You asked me to send you some suveneers and I was goin' to send you a pennant. He couldnt stay and talk through, he said he was awful busy there was such a large freshman class this year.

That there blue one with the white crusader's cross on it, I got in the mail the other day. A circular letter come with it and it said the pin was a Sigma Chi pledge pin and I schould just keep it. They said they was comin' to see me but they was takin their pledges alphabetically this year and they hadn't got to me yet, they was so many.

O. S. U. College,

Dere Sadie:

Of course I can't write to you any oftener. My social dooties occupies to many of my evenings here. But I guess it ant nothin like it was last year when all these here sororities was a pesterin' everbody with their tickets for somethin or other. Dave says he'd kinda hate to marry one of them girls, they's so good at coaxin money out uv a fello.

But they sure are grabbin things while they have a chanct. Them there girls what are runnin things on the Lantern, Harriett Daily, Lillian Hoskins and Jean Fitzgerald, are so set up over it that they boss the fellos what's under them somethin awful, just out of pure joy of havin' someone to boss.

Girls is awful funny things, Sadie, they's always talkin about their superiority over the men, but they's awful interested in 'em anyway. These here Alpha Xi Deltas got a new piece of a house down as near High street as they could, so if the fellos in the S. A. T. C. couldnt go off the campus they could be seen and heard anyways. Them there Delta Zetas had a lot uv curiosity too, they moved up nearer the campus this year. They musta made a lot a money offen them rummage sales and things last year, cause they got a bigger house this year. But as I afore said, Sadie, girls is awful funny. Up there the other night at the Delta Zeta House they heard a man a sonorin in the cellar, and they got most awful scared and run down to Hennicks hopin to entice some of these army heroes up there, but they wasn't none there but Herb, and he says he couldnt come. He had to tend the popcorn machine, but he said he'd get 'em a policeman. When the policeman cum from clear down town it was only the gas meter that was a rumblin in the cellar. They was sorta shamed o' themselves and didnt want noone to know it, but policeman was so plum digusted and he couldnt keep it

That'a good idea of yourn, usin them there fraternity pins fer cuff links. Youre real smart, Sadie. If you spent as much time thinking about your clothes as these here girls do, you might get by. This here fraternity buiness has got me worried, Sadie, they all look the same to me. Friendly and democratic to all, thats me, Sadie. It aint what they is, its what they uster was and is a goin to be, mabey. They all take you up and show you all the pitchers of fellos they got in the service and says what big guns they was here in school when they was here. Thats about all them there Chi Phis had this year. After the rushing committee got the fellos they want noone at the house to interduce 'em to exceptin the pitchers. They want more'n three or four of 'em back. They couldnt have a dance until they got some pledged to dance with all the Kappas.

I gotta quit now. One of the Phi Psis is comin after me, he's goin to take me around and show me the house they used to live in fore they got all broke up by the war.

Yours, I reckon,
